ROBERT PARKER. 2005. Viña Alicia. Paso de Piedra. Cabernet Sauvignon.

A Cabernet Sauvignon Dry Red Table wine from Luján de Cuyo. Mendoza. Argentina.

Source: Wine Advocate # 174. Dec 2007. Reviewer: Jay Miller.

Rating: 90 points. Maturity: Drink 2010 - 2020.

The 2005 Cabernet Sauvignon “Paso de Piedra” was also aged for 6 months in French oak. It is purple-colored with notes of spice box, toasty oak and black currants. Very Medoc-like, it has an elegant personality, lingering black fruit flavors, and 2-3 years of aging potential. It should drink well through 2020.

Ditto for the 2007 Cabernet Sauvignon Paso de Piedra which received the same elevelage.

It exhibits an enticing nose of spice box, cassis, black currant, cedar, and tobacco.

Elegant on the palate, it has lots of sweet fruit, excellent depth, savory flavors, impeccable balance, and a lengthy finish.

Medium purple, 8 months barrel, Asian spices, hint of balsamic, cassis, some elegance, tasty.

WINE ENTHUSIAST. 2007. Viña Alicia. Paso de Piedra. Cabernet Sauvignon.

Initial aromas of tire rubber, smoke, black fruits and leather are good and rich, but in a common, understandable way. Smooth and chunky on the palate, with warmth and flavors of blackberry, fig paste and chocolate. Finishes roasted and dark. A thorough Argentine Cabernet with no glaring weaknesses. M.S. Jan 2010.
