Vineyard: After years working with this variety and its full expression in the Cholqui soils, we have been selecting the best lots for the production of this wine. With poor soils and yields of 8 Tons per hectare, the vineyard management is almost not needed.

Vinification: The grapes are picked by hand in April, offering good concentration, nice flavors and aromas, with soft and velvety tannins. The wine is racked in barrels and aged for better structure and softer character. It is bottled unfiltered to keep all the body and expression of it.
